Dear Larry:

It is too bad we hadn't gotten to see you en route last year, but actually we would have been too distracted to do much serious work.

I am deeply concerned that we haven't come to grips with our still unpublished paper III - both the ms. and its intellectual content. We've all had too many other things to think about! Still we ought to try to rectify the situation.

I'm just snowed under myself with travel and other things - unfortunately none of them was Denver - or we'd hop a plane ourselves. But if you see any profit in it, can we persuade you to visit us for 2 or 3 days research conference? The best time, almost the only really clear time, would be the 3d week in February, which gives us all a decent interval to get ready. This doesn't have to be a unique occasion. Of course we'd love to see you in any case, but I'm thinking of a real business session, so bring your notes!

Of course we'll pay your expenses.

Happy New Year to Halvise and Margaret too, and say hello to Roger.

Arrivederci,

Joshua Lederberg

JL/ew

P. S. If you're planning any meetings this year, I strongly advise this April's Gatlinburg fest which looks exciting.
